Foreward

Hi

Welcome to the Wakefield Recovery and Wellbeing College, the home of the Discovery College. We are really pleased that you have chosen to enrol as a student with the College and we really hope you find the time you spend with us helpful for your health and wellbeing and/or someone that you care for or support.

We're all a really friendly bunch at the College and all of the courses and workshops are informal, as far away from a traditional college/school as you can imagine, and most importantly, have had design and delivery influence of someone with lived experience of the illness, condition or skill that the course is about. We believe that people who have experience of health problems – whether that is personal experience or as a carer for someone – are the experts in their own lives!

We believe:

- Everyone has a wealth of knowledge and valuable expertise – which they can use to help us develop the College for the benefit of all.
- Everyone should be given the opportunity to reach their potential.
- That the College will aim to be fully accessible for people with disabilities.
- In working together in the design and provision of the courses available.
- Everyone has the equal right to enjoy all the opportunities that life can provide.
- That our work is based on the principle that hope, mental health and wellbeing are essential to every person.

Hopefully by the time you have read this welcome pack and spoken with one of our team members during your Individual Learning Plan appointment (ILP), you will have a good understanding about the College and what it is like to be a student with us. We also have a Frequently Asked Questions section on the website that you might find useful to check out. Click here to check them out but if you are still unsure about anything then please get in touch with us or speak with your tutor.

We look forward to seeing you at the College.

Charter and our promise

We know that you have read and agreed to our College Charter during your enrolment process and we would recommend that you familiarise yourself with this before you attend any course, you can view these on our website by clicking here www.wakefieldrecoverycollege.nhs.uk
Now that you are a student, we have a few other things that you need to know:

The Wakefield Recovery and Wellbeing College/Discovery College makes a commitment to:

- Creating a supportive learning environment for all students, volunteers and staff that fosters a shared understanding and mutual respect.
- Supporting and guiding all who access to develop goals, achieve, and flourish.
- Listen to suggestions and feedback – “You said, we did” attitude.
- Do our best in creating an enjoyable learning experience at our Recovery and Discovery Colleges.
- Work with students and volunteers to develop the Colleges, this includes embracing co-production and co-facilitation of courses (co-production means professionals and those with lived experience creating courses and shaping the service together. Co-facilitation means those with lived experience and those with learned knowledge delivering together).
- Keep you up to date with what is going on with the Colleges.

Confidentiality / safe space

At the College we want to make sure everybody feels safe, comfortable and valued.
To do this we ask that:

- You don't share your telephone number/email address with anyone other than the College team.
- You only share your first name within a session and join online sessions with your first name or an alias. Just don't forget to let the College know beforehand if you are joining with an alias name, otherwise the tutor won't know to let you into the course.
- You don't reveal anything personal about yourself that could identify you to others, such as your home address, your college/workplace, your social media account.
- You think about your social media platforms and what you post, are they private?
- Anything talked about during a session, remains confidential.
- You will immediately share any concerns you may have about the health and safety of another student, child or adult with a member of the staff team. No matter how small the concern may be, you have a responsibility to share this, to make sure that the appropriate steps are followed to keep that person/others safe and that you do not leave the session worrying about somebody else's health or safety.

If you do not follow the College Charter and our guidelines to make sure everybody feels safe at the College, you will be asked to leave the session. We expect that tutors and fellow students are treated with respect at all times. We will always try to speak with you after the session to discuss why you were asked to leave if this should happen.

The College advises against the sharing of personal information with others in the groups that you are in. Sharing your story is encouraged within the group, but please remember not to share too much on a one to one with other students. Some people will be managing their own issues and concerns and may not be able to manage taking on board the concerns of other peers.

What happens next?

At this stage, you have enrolled with the College, completed an ILP with a member of our team, booked on your first course (or been reserved a place) and received this pack with a confirmation letter/email for your first course, so what will happen next:

Will I receive a reminder of my course booking/s

Yes - thirteen days before your course is due to start, you will receive an email (text message if you do not have email) to remind you of your booking that will ask you to confirm your place. You will then have three days to contact the College to confirm your booking.

What happens if I don't confirm my place?

For the majority of our courses we have a waiting list, so if you don't confirm your attendance within the set timescale, your booking will be cancelled and your place will be offered to another student. Your place on the course is not guaranteed until you confirm your booking.

What if I can't attend or an emergency crops up?

You need to let the College know asap so your place can be offered to another student.

What happens if I don't inform the College?

If you fail to inform the College ahead of time on three occasions, any additional course reservations you hold with us for the rest of term will be cancelled. This is to ensure that we are able to offer as many people as possible the help and support they require. We hope you are understanding of this.

What about directions and links for online courses?

These will be sent to you by email or text three days before the course starts – it is your responsibility to keep this information safe. Please let us know if you don't have this information the day before your course is due to start.

With all of us in mind.

What happens next?

How do I access an online course?

We use Microsoft Teams for our online courses and you can find instructions for using Teams by clicking here. Quick start guide.

What happens after I have attended a course?

We will send you an evaluation form via email that we would like you to please complete asap. At the end of each month, a copy of another ReQoL outcome measure questionnaire will also be sent to you to complete.

What do I do if I have borrowed equipment for the course?

We will contact you to arrange for this to be returned to us. We need to make sure all borrowed equipment is returned quickly so it is available for other students who may need to use it.

Hearing your voice

As a co-produced service your feedback about the College is really important to us. We need to know if we are getting it right and supporting people in the right way and your feedback is the best way for us to do this.

At the end of each course we will send you an evaluation form to complete online. If you would prefer this posting out to you, then please let us know. It is really important that you return this to us at the end of each course you attend so that we can shape our offer appropriately.

You can also let us know any other thoughts, ideas, areas for development, compliments or complaints by emailing the College or speaking with one of the staff team.

Additionally, we have a Development and Planning group that meets about three-four times a year that looks at what's going on at the College, student feedback and what the College needs to concentrate on going forward. If you would like to get involved in this, please speak to a member of the team or email the College and let us know.

To see what impact the Colleges are having for both improving what we do and evidencing the positive effect the College has on people's lives, so that investment and funding continues for the Recovery and Discovery Colleges, at times our finance department will review the appointments you have had with our service. This is so we can cost up staff time before and after your involvement with the College. All the information is collated anonymously to provide a picture of what difference the College is making. We wanted to let you know that this is something that we do, so please let us know if you have any concerns about this happening.
